

Ramblers Still In The Third Slot . . . One Point Behind Innisfail

The latest statistics received from the statistician of the Chinook Hockey reveal that the Didsbury Ramblers are still lodged in third place, one point behind the Innisfail Oilers. Olds are still in top spot six points ahead of their closest rivals. Trochu, Bonness, Red Deer and Carstairs are well back in the running.

During the past week Didsbury defeated Bonness by a 5-4 score but were unable to solve the Olde defence system and lost to them by a 7-4 margin. Both games were a fans' delight most of the way and it is expected that the Ramblers will be trying for that first win against Olds, when they meet here on February 7th.

Following are the league standings to February 27th:

Team	W	L	T	Pts
Olds	13	0	1	27
Innisfail	10	2	1	21
Didsbury	10	4	0	20
Trochu	6	7	1	11
Bonness	3	10	0	6
Red Deer	2	10	1	5
Carstairs	2	12	0	4

Top five covers on the Ramblers club are Miller McCoy with 31; Don Irwin has 25, Keith McCoy, 20, Lloyd Devine 14, and Wayne Shantz 14.

UNITED NATIONS DISCUSSED AT ZELLA W.I. MEETING

Mrs. John Hansen was hostess to nine members and five visitors for a meeting of the Zella W.I. on Thursday afternoon, Jan. 15.

It was decided that a foot stool be ordered for the Didsbury hospital, also that pillow slips and remnant bundles be ordered for bazaar make-ups. Money will be donated for the upkeep of the rest room in Didsbury.

A quilting bee has been planned for February 14th for the making of a Red Cross quilt.

The group was in favor of the chronic hospital suggestion and forms have been forwarded to the proper authorities.

Mrs. L. Christensen presented the United Nations topic. A U.N. flag was drawn and colored, and the governing bodies discussed. Roll of the war was interesting item concerning the United Nations.

Mrs. E. Lowrie will be hostess to the February 19th meeting of the institute.

ZELLA NEWS NOTES

(From Our Own Correspondent)

Ten tables of military whist were in play on Wednesday evening when Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Jahnke sponsored a community club card party. Prizes were won by Mrs. Bob Heaton, Mrs. Gladys Knight, Pat Dewane and Leonard Covitz. J. Bashaw was winner of the door prize. Mrs. Ira Scott will sponsor the next party on Wednesday, February fourth. Everyone welcome.

Mrs. and Mr. Bill Wigley, who spent the weekend at the Bill Eggers home, on Saturday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jackson, Mrs. L. James, Mr. and Mrs. Wilf Wigley, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Jahnke, Mr. and Mrs. E. Braun, Mr. and Mrs. E. Waldford and families gathered at the Eggers home to see the slides shown by Bill Wigley. The recent wedding slides were also viewed.

The Rugby P.U.A. sponsored a very successful two day Bonspiel at the Elkton curling rink on Friday and Saturday January 23rd and 24th.

Winners were as follows:

FIRST EVENT:—

1. (Auto Rugs) Les Evans, Lillian Hoesgood, Clifford Luft, Jim Johnston.

2. (Table Cloths) Gordon Jeffs, Henry Luft, Edward Waldford, Kathleen Grange.

3. (Flashlights) A. Hogg, Dave Gibbs, Bill Grange, Betty Waldford.

SECOND EVENT:—

1. (Potato Kettles) M. McRae, Mabel Waldford, Percy Hoesgood, Roger Hoesgood.

2. (Bath Towels) C. Gibbs, Emil Krebs, Lena Luft, Judy Johnston.

CONSOLATION:—

Box of Oatmeal to Glen Ray, Jim Hoesgood, George McCracken and Vivian Braun.

The club gave a vote of thanks to Mr. Harold Braun, president of the Local who had spent so many hours organizing this event.

WHEAT AGREEMENT DISCUSSIONS . . .

The world's major wheat exporting countries will meet in Geneva this month to discuss the drawing up of a new International Wheat Agreement.

Hope has been expressed that the United Kingdom will join the new agreement. The U. K. sat in on discussions held in November by the six major wheat exporters and the 42 wheat importing nations at that time the British delegation urged that any new agreement include a link with surplus disposal operations and some mechanism to make certain that wheat prices move freely within the established price range.

Representatives of Canada's major farm organizations will attend the meeting as advisors to the Canadian government.

H. J. Mather, B.Sc.,
Assistant Director,
Line Elevators Farm Service,
Winnipeg, Manitoba.
Sponsored by the following companies:
Federal Pioneer, Alberta Pacific Canadian Consolidated, Purdy, McCall, & Heimbecker, Inter - Ocean, Ellison Milling and Quaker Oats.

PROGRESS IN WEED CONTROL

The rapid development in the use of 2,4-D and other highly selective herbicides during the past 10 years,
and their wide acceptance by farmers, give evidence that weed control research in this field is paying good dividends.

Research Needs. Although much progress has been made in the field of chemical weed control, it is the conviction of weed research scientists that we know only a fraction of the potential uses of herbicides.
It is clear that future progress in weed control will be determined largely by new and better compounds; better basic understanding of how herbicides work; and better application methods. These, together with a greater stress on combined chemical and cultural control, plus an increased emphasis on education and extension, are necessary if the tremendous loss due to weeds is to be reduced in the future.

Cultural Methods Neglected.
Many extension workers feel that the glamour of chemical weed control, with its startling results on many weeds, is tending to overshadow the need for efficient, time-consuming cultural practices and "all round good farming". Let us take nothing away from chemical weed control, the greatest advance in this field in agricultural history, but at the same time let us look at the weed problem squarely. There is no royal path to weed control. We always have had weeds, and we will continue to have them, as long as we till the soil. Cultural methods, which give fairly effective but costly weed control, were used long before modern chemical controls were developed.

Future progress in weed control will depend upon the wise use of cultural practices in combination with proven herbicides. Good farming will always remain the only sound basis on which a successful weed control program can be built.

By Nancy Cleaver

WHAT ABOUT TEASING?
You may have read in Hilda M. Ridley's biography of L. M. Montgomery, the story of an old man who came to visit Lucy Maud's childhood home. He called the girl who later wrote the Ann of Green Gables books "Johnny." When she protested in childhood rage, it was all in vain. The visitor continued to tease her by calling her "Johnny." The child was so annoyed that when it came time for him to go away, she refused to shake hands with him. He thought this was a great joke and laughed heartily. "I won't call you 'Johnny' any more," he promised "after this I'll call you Sammy!"

The writer comments that to the old man, the teasing of a touchy child was fun, but to Lucy Maud it was poison. She never afterwards heard the mention of the old man's name without a deep feeling of resentment.

Teasing is a mean business and parents as well as children resent an adult, particularly one who is a guest, indulging in this pastime. The grown-up teaser is taking advantage of his age and position. He knows it is unlikely that anyone will interfere with the "fun" he enjoys by inflicting criticism on a defenceless child.

I have every vivid memory of a woman who teased my sister and myself about our heights. My younger sister grew taller than I was when she was twelve and I was sixteen. This woman who teased us invariably brought the point of meeting us on the way home from Sunday School. She would giggle whenever she saw us together, and exclaim in a shrill voice, "Why the littler is the bigger!"

I complained to mother, with fire in my eye, and dark threats about what I would like to do to that woman. Mother was silent for a moment, then she asked quietly, "Since she makes you so mad, why not make a point of avoiding her?" Why hadn't we thought of this simple solution? From that day, we played a little game of not meeting a tormentor.

If a guest persists in teasing a child, a parent does well to send the child on an errand. Thus the youngster is removed from the visitor who has such little sense. When a child is teased by another child, parents must encourage him to develop a little thickness of skin. It can be pointed out that a teaser soon stops if he finds his words are having no effect on the object of his ridicule. Here is an old-fashioned rhyme which has come to the rescue of countless children:

"Sticks and stones may break my bones,
But names will never hurt me!"

Mothers and fathers are often provoked by the teasing problem of their own family. A certain amount is inevitable and has to be taken in good part. But it must be kept within bounds. An adolescent girl teased about her new party dress just before she steps out, may be upset and her happiness shattered. Parents must help their children to see that laughter, which is anything but enjoyable, for the person being teased, is undesirable.

Boys and girls in early adolescence are apt to be sensitive. They need their self-confidence built up by honest praise, not pulled down by criticism. They have to accept fair regulations about the length of conversations on the family phone, but they should have some privacy for their phone "visits." How can they feel relaxed and at ease if they know a "teaser" is eavesdropping and will pounce as soon as they hang up?

The child who gets pleasure from teasing must find other socially acceptable ways to enjoy himself. Parents should not label him as "bad" or "selfish." He should learn that persistent teasing is taboo. One mother found it helpful to reassure a boy, who constantly teased his younger sister, by saying to him, "Lots of children want to tease and do a bit of it. But most of them grow out of this bad habit by the time they are your age. It's a mean way to act and you aren't a mean person."

THE HomemakersBy HELEN HOWARD
District Home Economist

Dear Homemakers:

PICTURE PERFECT
Have you ever stopped to think that pictures and ornaments are articles which are useful? They serve the one purpose of decorating a room by adding warmth and color. Pictures add so much to a room that as much care should be taken in their selection and placement as with a piece of furniture.

THE TYPE OF PICTURE
The type of picture you choose, will depend strictly on personal preference, however, choice should also take into consideration whether the picture is suitable for the room. In informal rooms one should avoid pictures that are too distinctly formal or social. Religious pictures are ordinarily placed in personal rooms of the house, but if the atmosphere of a home is such that a religious picture will be a sincere expression of the life of a family, it may be hung in the living room.

THE FRAME
The frame should be less conspicuous than the picture itself. Neutral colors, which are white, black, beige, dark brown or grey are most effective for frames. Some prefer frames the same color as the wall making the picture dominant, and although this can be very pleasant, they must be changed with every color change of the wall.

HOW PICTURES SHOULD BE HUNG

Pictures should be hung so that the centre of interest comes at about the eye level. Most pictures are hung too high, and the eye is carried up toward the ceiling instead of being kept at the most interesting points in the room, which are at about the level of the eye and below that point. One small picture on the wall looks as if one had hung it to cover a crack in the plaster. Always group small pictures to give them significance. To give width to a piece of furniture or to a wall, hang pictures vertically on the wall. To give mass, small pictures should be grouped within a rectangular area. To be so grouped, they need to be similar in character and frame, and harmonious in color.

A picture doesn't always need to be centred above a piece of furniture. Other accessories present in the grouping may make an "off-centre" or informal balance more attractive. e.g. A picture can be placed toward the right above the desk to accompany a tall lamp. Hanging a series of pictures in a straight line or a large horizontal picture above a couch are both considered in harmony with the horizontal movement of the couch. The only place where a stair-step arrangement of pictures is satisfactory is along a stairway.

LONE PINE ORIOLES

HOLD JANUARY MEETING

The January meeting of the Lone Pine Orioles was held at the home of Barbara and Eileen Weber, with eighteen members and two visitors present.

The meeting opened with a singing and roll call which was answered by naming a song with a girl's name in it. During the business meeting it was decided that each member would receive $1 for the use on their hobby.

Also agreed upon was the motion of having a skating party at Arlene Zeiglers.

The 10 cent draw which netted $2.50 was won by Dorothy Page. Lorna and Sheri Shells will be in charge of the next meeting which will be in the form of a Valentine Party.

NEW SWIFT'S SKY-HI 310

Average rate of lay . . .

Swift's new Sky-Hi 310 was developed especially for the poultry raiser who depends upon his laying flock for income. It combines high production with good feed conversion for real "assembly-line" efficiency. And, unlike many high producers, Swift's new Sky-Hi 310 maintains an extremely high rate of lay without sacrificing egg size.

Here is a completely new strain-crossed Leghorn that excels in all characteristics of economic importance. In extensive tests of this and other strains, the Sky-Hi 310 proved superior. It had the highest egg production, earliest maturity, and greatest livability of all layers tested. During an 11-month period, the Sky-Hi 310 achieved a production of 281 eggs . . . an average rate of lay of 86%! And the egg weight kept consistently high.

Order this top money-maker for your flock . . . the Sky-Hi 310 is ideal for either floor or cage. Sky-Hi is a trademark of Swift Canadian Co., Limited. For the Sky-Hi 310 and other fine Swift chicks, contact:

ANOTHER QUICK SWITCH . . .

Last week we reported in this column that three contestants would be in the running in the Olds by-election. Hours later one of the candidates, the P.C. choice, withdrew his name — not many hours later he was back in the thick of the battle. Some brain-washing must have been done along the line. Should the candidate in question be elected we trust he will keep his ideas and ideals on an even keel — let him not be inconsistent in his way of thinking, as he seems to have been as regards his withdrawal and re-entry in the up-coming election. May the best man win!

SINCE THE ABOVE WEE PIECE WAS WRITTEN WE HEAR THAT MR. YEWELL HAS AGAIN DECIDED TO WITHDRAW HIS NAME. IT'S A TWO-PARTY RACE FROM HERE IN: DEADLINE IS PASSED.

Another Anniversary . . .

Last week marked the 50th anniversary of a school which was opened in Didsbury in 1909. It still stands on the original site. Many old-timers of the district, no longer in knee pants, will remember the days they spent learnin' the 3 R's. Some days were probably happy ones, some tiresome, some just so-so; but those who passed through the portals of this hall of learning must still have memories they will never forget. May most of the memories be happy ones, may the days they spent there have been fruitful, may they not deny that those early days in their life were not wasted. Many students we know who were in the league at that time have proven that the days spent in the old red school house were not wasted.

A Fine Spot For Browsing . . .

Although many people use the facilities of the library in the town office, which is open each Saturday evening, this spot does not get the traffic it deserves. With new books coming in regularly, you can keep up to the best-sellers or go as far back as you care to. The rental fee is within the range of any budget — the knowledge and enjoyment you receive can not be counted in dollars and cents.

DO-SI-DO AND SPUTNIK A CONTRAST

The recent disclosure that high school students are being taught square dancing, and that they are tested and marked on the subject under the physical education program, must have come as a shock to many Calgary parents.

Square dancing is a delightful recreation and of great interest to many people, but it has no place in a high school curriculum. And the fact that a student could impair his standing because of a non-passing mark in this "subject" is utterly ridiculous.

This revelation, coming as it does at a time when education in general is under fire for too many "frills" is made all the more significant. If square dancing, why not the waltz the Big Apple or rock 'n' roll with examinations and marks towards physical education "credits" for each?

Time is of the utmost value in a school year and it is perfectly obvious that the high schools have not got so much spare time that it can be wasted on such frivolous nonsense as square dancing. This activity is taught under the physical education program — and there are many who would question the value of this in the high school curriculum — but square dancing is a recreation rather than physical education. It should not be confused with serious treatment as a course on any high school curriculum anywhere.

But it is even more senseless to further waste pupil time by giving tests and examinations on the subject with the results playing a part, no matter how small, on the students' total marks. If physical education must be taught, and this is very questionable in high school where there is little enough time, it should be an athletic "keep fit" program.

Most parents are under the impression that their children are being taught to read and write, to do sums, to gain a smattering of great literature, learn a trade, and, perhaps, to think in the schools. In other words they believe, and the right to expect, that their children are being given an education. But what are they to think when they discover that square dancing and the like are being taught?

Obviously they can put little faith in a school system which chatters up its curricula, and gives examinations in this and other time-wasting activities.

"Do-si-do" has its place, but that place is not alongside the three R's. Nor should we be paying heavy school costs for this sort of frippery.

Notes From D.A.

By HOWARD FULCHER
District Agriculturist

Seed grain of good quality is in good supply, if your seed is not satisfactory, arrange now for your seed supply.

Any grain to be used for seed must have a strong germination. Tests should be carried out on all grain which will be cleaned and used for seed. If the test is not satisfactory, having a poor or weak germination, secure other seed.

Germination tests may be carried out at home in this method: A definite number of seeds can be planted in soil in a window box or placed between paper towels and kept moist. Testers are obtainable to farmers from some elevators, some companies provide a free testing service. An official test will be made by the government the charge being 75 cents. If you wish this send a sample of the seed to Plant Production Service, 820 Federal Public Building, 107 St. and 99th Ave. Edmonton, Alberta.

When you are cleaning seed grain it is important to start with seed of true variety with a strong germination. The cleaning should be carefully done, a casual look at the finished seed product will often be misleading. To examine your seed take a representative sample and spread it on a table top, separate the good, fair and poor kernels, take out all weed seeds and other impurities placing each in a different pile. When you do this you can see if there are too many other grains, weed seeds, or poor kernels present and judge your seed quality.

After seed has been cleaned it is very important to store it in a clean bin which is well portioned off so no contamination can result from uncleaned grain.

Secure good seed is a small cost in growing a crop but is an important part of obtaining a good crop.

DISTRICT NEWS

M.V.B.C. NEWS

(From Our Own Correspondent)

President Taylor concluded his special services in the James River field on Sunday evening. He reported good attendance even with the cold weather. Mrs. Taylor and a number of students accompanied him from time to time. Mr. Bob Hale is the pastor on that field and is doing good work. He is a graduate of the college and he and his wife expect to go to Nigeria within the next year if the Board for Missions sees fit.

Mr. Paul Suvan was a guest in the college for a number of days last week. He is a professional piano tuner and has given our instruments careful inspection.

Rev. J. Jones stopped at the college at services in the conference and gave us two good services.

Open House was a real success again this year. Some 225 persons were conducted through the buildings. The highlight of this year was the new Student Centre. In it the various societies and departments of the college arranged displays which attracted considerable attention. The Annual Staff had a "booster booth" to advertise their new annual, which will be published soon.

Several Gospel service teams were in action at services in the conference last Sunday. One team presented the needs of the college in Big Valley quite successfully. College Day will be held February 8th this year. Faculty and students will visit and take charge of services in the various churches of the conference. Rev. Bob Simpson will speak in the Didsbury church in the morning service. Mr. Simpson has taught principles of missions and evangelism in the college for several years.

Rev. and Mrs. Witt, and Mrs. Suder were on deputation work for the W.M.S. last Sunday. They spoke in the Mountain View and May City churches.

Mrs. Suder entertained the ladies of the faculty Saturday afternoon, in honor of Mrs. Finlay, who was a campus guest at "open house".

For dinner, Mrs. Finlay and Mrs. Suder, were guests of Miss Gladys Eby.

SERVICE BOARD NOTES

WEED SPRAYERS: During the past several months I have been asked on various occasions for my opinion on the selection of a good kind of field weed sprayer. It is my firm belief that, for the average farm, a good weed sprayer is a necessary piece of equipment.

Farms that would not benefit from the intelligent use of weed chemicals are few and far between. We don't want to be misquoted as saying that the use of chemicals is a cure-all for weeds. Good farm management and sound cultural practices are at the top of the list, but the intelligent use of approved weed killers, properly applied, gives the farmer a second line of defence against weeds.

Often-times a combination cultural and chemical program against certain weeds is far more effective than one or the other by itself. Canada thistle and perennial sow thistle showed quite an increase last year. These weeds take a heavy toll in growing out desirable crops and reducing yield. Furthermore, if allowed to ripen, the seeds will drift with the wind and invest new areas.

We have proven quite conclusively that a well arranged cultural program, coupled with a chemical program, will effectively control these weeds, providing the right kind of chemical is applied at the right stage of growth in sufficient quantities.

Next week I will tell you what features to look for when you are selecting your new weed sprayer.

CREMONA NEWS

(From Our Own Correspondent)

Mrs. Glenn Johnston spent several days in Calgary last week. While there she visited with her daughter, Mrs. R. McLeod and family and with Mr. and Mrs. J. Daintry.

The annual telephone meeting was held in Cremona January 17th. Top item of interest was a motion made by Mr. Van Haften of a levy of $15 for the coming year on each subscriber to cover deficit. Much new line and many poles were installed last year.

The annual congregational meeting of the United Church was held in the Sunday school room last Tuesday evening, with only a fair turnout.

The Big Prairie school house has been purchased by a local club, the West Cremona Community Association. They are currently holding what drives, with the next one scheduled for February 13th at Mrs. Griffin's.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Wilson and family, Mr. and Mrs. C. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. R. Mork and Deryl and Mr. and Mrs. George Mork of Calgary, were Sunday visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Ray.

Mr. Norman Eby was nearly ax-killed last Friday morning while working on a car in his closed garage. Mr. Wm. Tippe happened by and undoubtedly saved Mr. Eby's life by his opportune arrival. Mr. I. Marchand applied first aid.

Gracie Spillman has just returned from a two-week stay in Calgary.

Mrs. B. Rendert is a hospital patient in Didsbury.

TRAFFIC ACT CHANGES . . .

From the motorist's point of view, the next session of the Alberta legislature which will open February fifth will be of vital importance.

Some drastic changes are proposed in the Vehicles and Highway Traffic Act and these will be of special interest to the nearly 300,000 registered passenger car operators in this province. The legislature undoubtedly will realize the widespread application of any amendments to the present legislation.

One proposed change will create considerable surprise. This is to raise the speed limit from the present 60 to 65 miles per hour on Alberta's four-lane and divided highways.

To some observers, it does seem surprising that after a year of more than 300 highway traffic deaths, a shocking toll, there is a move to raise speed limits. Perhaps before the speed limit is changed, there should be more justification than the report of an RCMP survey which discovered that the average speed of cars is 65 miles an hour now.

If the legal rate is raised to 65, what guarantee is there that a goodly number of motorists will not drive at an average of 70 miles per hour or more? Will the police crack down on such speeders?

The provincial government has indicated that ultimately the present four-lane highway from Calgary to Red Deer will be extended from Red Deer to Edmonton. That means if the proposed amendment to the Vehicles and Traffic Act is passed, that over a considerable stretch of main north-south highway, the legal speed limit will be 65 miles per hour. The night limit would be 55 miles per hour, though there are some who feel the rate should hold firm at 60 miles per hour.

Another major change would be to increase the maximum fines for speeding violations. This was recommended by delegates who attended a traffic conference called by Minister of Highways Gordon Taylor.

Instead of the present $50 maximum fine for a first offence, the ceiling would be raised to $200 for a first offence. The conference voted by a substantial majority in favor of this change. If the overall purpose is to put more "teeth" in the traffic Act and clear the way to impose higher fines for deterrent purposes, the new legislation may be justified.

The conference also expressed favor for ratifying Edmonton's system of requiring a 20-mph speed limit through school crosswalks marked by flashing amber lights, despite the danger of this being a conflict with the suggested uniform traffic code.

The W.I. will support the Cancer Society by showing films in April. Group support was given to the resolution for a Chronic hospital which is to be built by the government in the near vicinity. The topic given by Mrs. Trev Morgan was on household gadgets. Thanks are extended to Leeson Hardware for supplying articles for demonstration.

The February meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Walter Scheidt Jr. Roll call will be answered with a loaf of home-made bread, to be judged, and a tea to the Canadian Institute for the blind. The above will be donated to the Canadian Institute for the blind in Calgary.

LIGHT YOUR WAY . . .

. . . WITH BIBLE STUDY

What will we be like in heaven? What will we be doing in heaven? These are just two of the many questions people ask about our sojourning in heaven.

In heaven we shall see God "face to face," "see Him as He is." To be in God's divine presence will be our greatest joy. Enjoying this beatific vision, we shall be clothed with the divine image. Our intellect will be enlightened as Paul states: "For now we see through a glass, darkly; but then face to face; now I know in part; but then shall I know even as also I am known." The mysteries of the world which continually baffle us, will all be resolved. In this life, we have trials and sorrows; sickness and wants; we must face death. But in heaven, all these will be unknown. Paul, in his clear-cut style phrases it this way: "I reckon that the suffering of this present time are not worthy to be compared with the glory which shall be revealed in us." And John the Divine gives us a glimpse of the glory of heaven describes it thus: "And God shall wipe away all the tears from their eyes; and there shall be no more death, neither sorrow, nor crying, neither shall there be any more pain: for the former things are passed away."

The Psalmist of old was strengthened by the same truth: "In Thy presence is fullness of joy; in Thy right hand there are pleasures forevermore." And with these truths, it is crystal clear why heaven holds such an enviable place in our heart. We also exclaim with Paul: I have a desire to depart and to be with Christ, which is far better. Through this Jesus, with whom we hope to be, we can reach our goal. For - Jesus has removed the barrier that separates us from God: sin. He has paid our penalty of sin through His own suffering and death so that we can look forward to "be forever with the Lord." Yes, through Jesus, heaven is assured us. Will you accept Him today?

FAIR OBSERVATION . . . A scoutmaster, noticing that his recruits were having difficulty organizing their first cook-out, asked whether they had forgotten any essential equipment. "Yes," replied one. "My mother."

Miss Howard, district home economist, will attend the February meeting, which will be held at the home of Mrs. I. Klein on the 3rd. She will speak on interior decorating.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

How spiritual understanding of God as divine Love promotes true brotherhood will be brought out at Christian Science services Sunday. Scriptural selections to be read in the Leeson-Sermon entitled "Love" include this one (1 John 4:21): "And this commandment have we from him. That he who loveth God love his Brother also." Readings from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will include the following (518:15): "The rich in spirit help the poor in one grand brotherhood, all having the same Principle, or Father; and blessed is that man who seeth his brother's need and supplieth it, seeking his own in another's good." The Golden Text is from 1 John 4:8: "He that loveth not knoweth not God; for God is love."
